☀ The Fabulous Gold Harvesting Machine

☀ La Fabulosa Máquina de Cosechar Oro

Toto has been prospecting for gold in Tierra del Fuego for 40 years. His body is severely damaged by his work routine, and the doctor tells him that he cannot continue working in the mine, or he will die. But he can't stop, because he has no right to social security. His cowboy son Jorge designs a machine that will bring them a better future.

A sensory immersion into the life journey of two women and their relationship of pleasure and pain with the sea. An islander dives into the open sea and swims alongside sea lions, embracing her freedom. A swimmer plunges into the icy waters of glaciers and polar currents, pushing the limits of her endurance. Both inhabit a watery universe whose nature can be as beautiful as it is brutal.

☀ The Broken Goddess☀ La Diosa Quebrada

The myth of María Lionza, the goddess of Venezuela, merges with the experience of a migrant filmmaker who yearns for her lost Goddess. Over two decades of filming, the movie unveils the different facets of the fracture of the iconic Goddess statue amidst a Caracas marked by acute political and social division. Different times come together to explore a rupture that is not just that of a statue. It is the story of Venezuela and of every Venezuelan who feels torn by a war that never belonged to them. It is also the wound of those living in the nowhere of a migrant life.

✻ I Don't Want To Say Goodbye

✻ No Quiero Decir Adiós

At a Starbucks, 16-year-old Katy Winter takes her own life, leaving behind a letter containing clues about her death and the perpetrators of the brutal cyberbullying she endured. The teenager attended one of the most elite schools in Chile, and the suspects are reluctant to go to trial, raising doubts that the real perpetrators of Katy's depression were her parents. Why did Katy Winter commit suicide?
